

AUSTRALIAN AND NEW ZEALAND ASSOCIATION FOR MEDIEVAL AND EARLY MODERN STUDIES

The Anne M. Scott Parergon Journal Prize

The Anne M. Scott Parergon Journal Prize will be awarded to an emerging scholar for the best article-length scholarly work accepted to be published in Parergon within the previous two years.

The Prize will be offered biennially, with the submission and adjudication process timed so that the announcement of the winner can be made at an ANZAMEMS Biennial International Conference.

Eligibility

Entry is open to:

Honours or Postgraduate Students formally enrolled in an Honours, Masters or PhD by research programme, and proof of enrolment will be required on submission of the prize entry;

Or

Early Career Researchers within 10 years of the award of a PhD (or equivalent research degree), but with a submission/completion date before the article is submitted to Parergon.

An extension to the 10-year limit may be granted for significant career interruption/s due to any one or more of the following circumstances:

- Carer responsibilities.
- International relocation for post- doctoral or other research employment.
- Serious illness.
- Maternity or parental leave.
- Unemployment.
- Employment outside academia/current academic discipline.

Applicants must be:

- Financial members of ANZAMEMS at the time of the submission of their article to Anne M. Scott Parergon Journal Prize.

Only one submission per entrant will be accepted.

Determination of eligibility will be at the discretion of the ANZAMEMS Honours and Prizes Sub-Committee.

To be considered for the prize, the publication must:

- Be the work of a single author.
- Be accepted for publication in Parergon.
- Have been submitted for publication in Parergon during the two calendar years previous to the year in which the prize is offered (i.e., 2021–2022)

Prize Details

- Winners will receive $1000 AUD in prize money (or NZD equivalent).
- The winner will be announced at the next ANZAMEMS Conference and publicized in the next convenient issue of Parergon and the ANZAMEMS Newsletter.

Judging Details

- The Judging Panel will consist of: the Editor of Parergon; the ANZAMEMS Vice-President (Australia); the Reviews Editor of Parergon; and a member of the Parergon Early Career Committee.
- The Judging Panel reserves the right not to award a Prize in the event that insufficient entries are received, or for any other reason.
- The Judging Panel's decision will be final, and no correspondence will be entered into.

Judging Guidelines

Judges should consider the following criteria when in evaluating entries for the Prize:

- The overall quality of writing, including style and creativity: Is the writing of high quality and the publication well presented? Is the writing able to convey complex ideas to wider audiences? Are the methodology, research, evidence, and conclusions used appropriately and described clearly?
- The originality and rigor of scholarship: Does the publication make a significant original contribution to knowledge in the area?

Judges have EIGHT weeks to review the submissions individually and then gather by conference call, to deliberate and decide on the shortlist of finalists and the winner of the prize.

The Judging Panel's decision will be made by a majority vote and will not be open to review.
